

BRITISH COMB DIED IN FOR SINN FEIN LEADERS

Every House in Mile Square Area Is Searched for Irish Commander.

HUNDREDS CAUGHT IN TRAP

Raid of Irish City Is Most Spectacular Since Difficulties Started.

By Charles M. McCann
By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin—Two important Sinn Fein leaders were the great prize for which one thousand British soldiers sought today in a barricaded section of Dublin.

A room to room search was made of the mile square area, made man tight by miles of barbed wire. Six arrests had been reported early today but the two most sought men had not been found. They were Michael Collins, commander-in-chief of the republican army, and his assistant, Mulcahey.

There were reports the hunt was on for "President" Eamonn De Valera, but reliable reports said that official was not in the city.

Meanwhile all Ireland was agitated with raids and threats of raids.

At Thurles, the cathedral town, 400 men and women were rounded up in a raid by the military. The prisoners were driven into an open field near the police barracks and compelled to stand while officers read a proclamation of martial law. The hearers were threatened with the severest penalties if they failed to surrender arms or were found harboring "rebels."

Find Ammunition
Much ammunition was said to have been found at Lisnagry, where nine men and one woman suspect were captured.

The raided area in Dublin presented a sight never before witnessed in the Irish difficulties. The military in this operation took possession of the market center. Most of the residents were cut off from their vegetable and fish supplies. The only traffic permitted was of milk wagons. The soldiers were fed from rolling tables.

Within the barricaded district also were three courts. In one of these important cases against Irish prisoners were to be heard Monday. Rumors were that the raid was intended in part to protect the courts during the trial.

All last night scores of searchlights played over the raided districts. Soldiers continued their work in the white light and were relieved by others this morning, so that the searching was continuous.

Raid Is Spectacular
The raid itself was sudden and spectacular. A fleet of lorries with cargoes of tin-hatted, smiling soldiers booted down Dublin streets Saturday night. The cars skidded to a stop in the northern section of the city. Soldiers jumped over the sides of the machines and almost immediately had trampled field kitchens into position to prepare for breakfast while a hundred or more began unrolling huge spools of barbed wire twisting the strands high above their heads and weaving an intricate barricade through the chosen district.

Searching of residences began immediately, soldiers working toward the center of the area, occasionally selecting a house as a vantage point where machine guns could be mounted on roofs and sand bag barricades established in the windows.

Late in the morning two Catholic churches in the section were visited, the men being searched while the women were sent to their homes. Priests announced no further services would be held during the period of occupation expected to be from three days to six weeks.

ARR-ST MEXICANS FOR MURDERING AGED COUPLE

By United Press Leased Wire
Kaufman, Texas. — Five Mexicans were held in the county jail here today, following discovery of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Willard, an aged couple, beaten to death with an iron bar Sunday afternoon.

The Mexicans were arrested after neighbors of the murdered couple said two of them had gone to the Willard home Saturday night and asked for work, and after being sent to a neighbor who had some cotton to pick, were even returning toward the Willard residence.

TAKES SWEETIE TO SHOW; THEN STEALS HER GEMS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — "Let's go to a movie," invited the debonair suitor of Miss Catherine Gibbons, visiting here from Cleveland.

"But," he said, "leave your diamonds at home. The crime wave may get you if you don't look out."

Catherine obeyed and off they went to the movie.

Shortly after they were seated the cavalier pulled the rush act.

"I'll be back in a minute, have to go a fellow," he said and hurried off.

He returned soon and took her home.

Jack Burke, 28, was in jail today charged with having stolen $1500 worth of Catherine's jewels when he accused himself in the movie.

BIG KAUKAUNA PULP MILL IS SOLD TO M'KAY

Appleton Man Is in New Company Which Will Operate Kaukauna Property.

TRANSFER IS MADE TODAY

New Owners Take Possession at Once—Plan Extensive Improvements.

The biggest realty transfer of 1921 in the Fox River valley was consummated Monday morning when Lewis L. Aisted and A. J. McKay purchased the Kaukauna Pulp company's plant in Kaukauna. The new owners have taken possession of the property and will operate it. Extensive changes and improvements are contemplated. The purchase price has not been indicated.

Mr. McKay and Mr. Aisted are connected with the Combined Locks Paper Co., the Lakeside Paper Co., and several other large companies. The Kaukauna plant will be operated by a new company to be known as the Valley Pulp Co., with L. L. Aisted as president; A. J. McKay as vice president, and L. A. Lecher as secretary.

The pulp mill has been operated for several years as subsidiary of the Kleckhoffer Box Co. of Milwaukee, which purchased the plant in a court sale after it had gone into the hands of a receiver. Its capacity is approximately 7,500 tons of pulp a year, but it is probable this will be very materially increased. The Kleckhoffer company paid approximately $100,000 for the property, but extensive improvements have been made since it took possession.

ENGLAND SPECULATES OVER GEDDES' RETURN

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Extraordinary importance was attached today to the return home of Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador to the United States.

"We may be on the verge of diplomatic exchanges that will go to make world history," the Pall Mall Gazette declared.

Afternoon newspapers agreed that Geddes had been called home to report fully on the changes in the situation to be brought about by a new administration.

"Senator Harding will bring to the White House a set of ideas varying considerably from those which have held sway for eight years," the Gazette declared.

"Within six or eight weeks it will be necessary to think in altogether new terms of our foreign policy. The government naturally desires the best information on contingencies that may arise in the discussion of the British debt and the matter of disarmament."

The interest for the average taxpayer in the negotiations Chalmers conducts with the treasury, lies in these figures: Foreign nations owe this country $10,000,000,000.

The interest on this is about $500,000,000 annually.

It is estimated this country must raise $4,000,000,000 annually by taxation.

Thus if foreign nations pay their debts here one-eighth of America's tax bill will be lopped off. If they are not paid, American tax payers must be burdened more heavily. So far the American taxpayer has been bearing the burden. Up to November about $427,000,000 in interest had been paid. About $700,000,000 was unpaid.

Whether the indicated possibilities under the law are justified, we are not called upon to consider.

How far reaching the effects of the decision will be was indicated in official figures that 1,021 automobiles were seized during the first year of constitutional prohibition. It is not known how many of these were partly owned by innocent parties.

CHICAGO SOCIETY LEADER IS DEAD

Chicago.—Mrs. Harriet R. Hammond McCormick, wife of Cyrus McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester company, died today.

Mrs. McCormick's husband was at her bedside when she died. He had raced to the city from New York taking a special train part of the way. He arrived about twelve hours before his wife died.

Death resulted from complications following a gall bladder operation. She was taken to the hospital early in January and suffered a relapse Saturday when her husband was summoned.

Mrs. McCormick for many years was the commanding figure in Chicago social circles. Her most notable work was the establishment of the Elizabeth McCormick memorial endowment fund in 1904 for improving the conditions of child life in the United States. More than 1,000 communities have taken advantage of the fund.

State Will Push Case Against "Love Bandit"

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Plans whereby prosecution of Pierre Paul Auther, Highland Park, Illinois, war chemist, for grand larceny was to have been dropped so that he could later marry Mrs. Charlotte Franzen, his "soul mate," struck a snag here today when District Attorney Theodore G. Lewis announced he would force the prosecution of Auther if the evidence warranted.

Auther, who has a wife and a child, eloped with Mrs. Franzen who also is married and is the mother of a two year old baby here.

They were caught in St. Louis. Today he was arraigned here on the charge of having held up Phillip Franzen, University of Wisconsin decorator, and husband of Charlotte Franzen. Auther pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to Tuesday when a preliminary examination will be held. He was ordered held under $1,000 bonds.

Franzen in response to pleas of his wife, had planned to drop the case and go informed Lewis.

"I hadn't the heart to refuse her," he said.

He also said he would divorce his wife to allow her to marry Auther, who, it is said, will also get a divorce. But Franzen, Lewis now says, is not to have the say about whether the case will be dropped.

"The question as to whether or not an offense has been committed and there is ground for a prosecution is not for Franzen to decide," said Lewis. "If I find grounds for prosecution, I shall prosecute."

Standing room was at a premium in the courtroom when Auther was arraigned. Pretty crowds and many students were among the spectators.

"If I had not intended to have pleaded not guilty, I wouldn't be here," Auther said.

"I was anxious to come to Madison to clear myself of the charge made against me by Franzen. The check was made out to Mrs. Franzen. She endorsed it and cashed it and I did not touch it or the money. It won't take long for me to prove my innocence."

It had been alleged when Auther stole Mrs. Franzen from the Franzen home, he had held up Franzen at the point of a gun and forced him to write a check for $110.

BRITAIN SEEKING EASIEST WAY TO MEET ITS DEBTS

British Ambassador Returns to London to Report on American Attitude.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The length of pending negotiations for the funding of the debt and the payment of interest on Great Britain's debt to the United States today was believed to depend on the report Sir Auckland Geddes makes to his government.

Geddes, British ambassador here, now is enroute to London.

If Geddes should report that the British can make more favorable arrangements with the Wilson administration, it is probable the negotiations will be hastened.

Otherwise, the debt will be allowed to run along until Harding takes office.

The British attitude is significant because Great Britain is the largest debtor of this country and because the arrangement made with her will probably be the model for arrangements with other nations.

Passing Geddes on the Atlantic will be Lord Chalmers who is coming here to arrange for interest payments more than half of which are unpaid and for changing the demand securities now held by this government into long time securities.

The interest for the average taxpayer in the negotiations Chalmers conducts with the treasury, lies in these figures: Foreign nations owe this country $10,000,000,000.

The interest on this is about $500,000,000 annually.

It is estimated this country must raise $4,000,000,000 annually by taxation.

RUSS MINISTER AT ANTI-RED MEETING

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. Boris Bakmeteff, Russian ambassador here, said this week to join conferences of Russian anti-bolshevik factions now in progress in Paris.

The Paris conferences are under the leadership of Alexander Kerensky, head of the Russian government which followed the fall of the czar and preceded the bolshevik regime. Bakmeteff was representative of the regime in Washington and is still the accredited Russian representative here, despite the fact his government has fallen.

Bakmeteff's mission will be a double one. It is understood here, First he will carry to the face of bolshevism just what they may expect in the way of moral aid from the Harding administration.

Second, he will gather information as to the present position of the bolshevik regime and the hopes and aims of its foes.

This information he will be ready to lay before the administration in an attempt to prevent any recognition of Lenin, either through trade or diplomatic channels.

HUGHES IS NOT BOUND TO ANY LEAGUE POLICY

New Secretary of State Is in Position to Accept Harding's Views.

CRITICIZED WORLD LEAGUE

Former Jurist Declares Economic Conditions Determine World Status.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyrighted, 1921.

Washington.—The practical certainty that Charles Evans Hughes will be secretary of state in the Harding cabinet has led some members of the senate in the last few days to take a retrospective glance at the views of the former associate justice, not his views on legal or political questions, but his utterances on foreign policy which during the campaign had a passing value but which now will be come the basis of American action after March 4.

"It should be remembered," wrote Mr. Hughes on one occasion, "that the great protection against war for a considerable period of years will be found not in any form of words that may now be adopted, however desirable these may be, but in economic conditions which are an assurance that for a considerable time at least we shall not have a recurrence of world strife."

"The danger now lies," he added, "not in the menace of force employed to further imperial designs but in the removal of traditional restraints and the tendency to revolution within states. In making commitments it should be remembered that while it is highly important that at this time we should do everything that is practicable to promote peace and to secure stable conditions, we should be cautious in making promises which are to be redeemed in unknown contingencies."

CRITICIZED LEAGUE

Some of the main points in Mr. Hughes' criticism of the present covenant of the League of Nations are as follows:

(1) Omitting the guaranty in Article (ten).

(2) Suitable limitation as to the field of the league's inquiries and action so as to leave no doubt that the internal concerns of states such as immigration and tariff laws are not embraced.

(3) Provision that no foreign power shall acquire by conquest purchase.

PURCHASING HEAD WILL LEAVE STATE

Madison.—M. F. Blumenfeld, for six years superintendent of public property, announced today he would resign within sixty days.

Blumenfeld took office when former Governor E. L. Philipp went into the executive office in 1914. He introduced the central purchasing system in the state's business. His work as purchasing agent for the state and superintendent of public property won him nationwide recognition.

Legislatures of many states sent committees to secure information on his system.

Blumenfeld as yet has made no decision as to what he will do when he leaves the statehouse. He has a number of business connections offered him including one which will take him to England.

He is the first Philipp administrative head to resign.

CHARGE NEGRO DESERTER WITH MURDERING NURSE

Annapolis, Md.—Henry Brown, Negro deserter from the naval station here, was to be brought from Baltimore today for examination in connection with the murder Friday night of Miss Harriet Kavanaugh.

Brown was arrested in Baltimore where he told department of justice agents he had been the entire number of days since he went A. W. O. L.

He is reported, however, to have been seen loitering about the spot where Miss Kavanaugh, a nurse, was taken into unconsciousness.

Naval academy authorities today turned the case over entirely to the department of justice declaring they had exhausted all their resources in searching for the murderer. The board of inquiry, however, will continue sessions to aid the detectives. It was said.

JEALOUS SUITOR KILLS YOUNG WOMAN AND HIMSELF

By United Press Leased Wire
Rochester, Minn.—The father of Claire Frederickson, nurse at Colonial hospital, arrived today to take the girl's body back home to Porter, Minn.

She was killed by a jealous suitor, late Saturday just as she stepped to an automobile with Hugo Kline, a young farmer. The attacker, partially identified today as Arthur Johnson, of Minneapolis, ran a block and shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

Kline was clipped on the chin by a bullet and will be dismissed from the hospital shortly.

Johnson held the girl, however, while he fired three bullets into her body. Police said Johnson had planned destruction as well as death. In his hand, as he died, he held part of a sack of dynamite. In his room were found traces and production caps.

KENYON OPENS WAR ON WASHINGTON LOBBYISTS

Washington.—Lobbyist identification bills were introduced in the senate today by Senators Kenyon, Iowa, and Sutherland, W. Va. Virginia.

Kenyon recently declared that the capital is "swarming" with lobbyists.

The bills require registration in the house and senate by all lobbyists and by all interested represented here by lobbyists, and provide a fine of from $200 to $5,000 for violation.

FIX INDEMNITIES TO RESTORE PROSPERITY

HONOR MEMORY OF
BADGER LAWMAKER

Assembly Plans to Adjourn Immediately After Meeting Tuesday Noon.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—An adjournment until Wednesday morning out of honor to Assemblyman Samuel Owens Green Lake, will be taken by the assembly when the legislature reconvenes tomorrow afternoon.

Owens died Saturday. He never took his seat, being too ill to come to Madison.

Gov. John J. Blaine announced today that a special election would be ordered in Green Lake to name a successor to the deceased law maker.

A committee of lower house members will be selected by Speaker Riley Young to attend the funeral of the dead assemblyman.

The customary reception by the president of the university given annually to members of the legislature will be held tonight.

Speaker Riley S. Young, Darien, will return to Madison tomorrow. He will announce the selection for committees and chairmanships immediately upon convening of the lower house tomorrow afternoon. The senate is not expected to adjourn.

Bills will be introduced and assigned to committees after the house is called to order. A heavy roll of business faces both houses and the real work of the legislature will be gotten under way this week.

SEEK OFFICIAL RULE ON "HIP POCKET BAR"

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Frank D. Richardson, prohibition enforcement officer for the Great Lakes district, was in Washington today conferring with his chiefs. Reports were that a shake-up in the office would result from the trip.

Richardson was also expected to obtain a ruling on the carrying of "hip" liquor. He has conferred with some other federal officials on this question. Richardson held it was illegal, but others refused to prosecute the carriers of bottles.

Fledgling Nations Of New Europe Find The Going Very Hard

Must Act Soon
The allies must determine the amount of German reparations before May of this year. It is hoped that they will be fixed earlier—at the meeting in Paris this week if possible. What ever the final arrangements are, they must do justice to Belgium and the other countries, ravaged by Germany. At the same time they must not enslave the German people, though they be placed at her very limit to pay.

"The balance of Germany's obligation could be put in the form of bonds. Germany could promptly pay the interest and gradual amortization of these, thereby establishing her value. The allies' reluctance to use these bonds as the basis of credit for their own purchases of commodities and raw materials. Thus the settlement of the reparations question would favorably affect the whole world.

"France, above everything else, is determined—and justly so—that she shall never face the peril of an assault by Germany. She doesn't trust Germany and is even dubious about some of her former allies. Her soldiers are now on the Rhine and a demoralized and powerless Germany seems to France, under present conditions, to be the only way out.

"First, France must be guaranteed that Germany shall keep the peace. Then the question will be opened to settlement with due regard to economic conditions."

CONSIDER LAW TO FIX WEIGHT OF BREAD LOAF

Anton Miller, assemblyman from the second district of Outagamie county, held a conference with Joseph Hodgins, city sealer, Monday morning regarding the standardization of the weight of a loaf of bread. While a loaf is supposed to weigh a pound or a pound and a half there is no standard weight at present and members of the legislature contemplate passing a bill regulating the weight.

Mr. Hodgins said that during the past year he has observed that loaves vary from one to four ounces. Some time ago he took the matter up with local bakers and they agreed to make a pound and a half loaf and keep their word until a twenty-two ounce outside loaf made its appearance on the local market.

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY IS NOW INCORPORATED

The Christian Assembly of Appleton has filed articles of incorporation with A. C. Koch, register of deeds. ### ST. PAUL CHURCH HAS RECORD YEAR

Reports at Annual Meeting Sunday Show Progress. Elect Officers.

St. Paul Lutheran church closed one of its most successful years, according to reports submitted at the annual meeting in the church auditorium Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance despite the inclement weather. Albert Voeks, president, had charge of the business session.

The terms of three officers expired. John Bohnke and Otto Ehke were re-elected treasurer and member of the school board. Otto Kositzke declined to serve another year as vice president of the congregation and his place was filled by Louis Nieland. The latter will be installed next Sunday. Fred Krueger was appointed janitor for another year.

Figures submitted by the secretary showed that there were 380 voting members in the congregation on January 1, 1921, and 95 constituent families. Nineteen new members additional to this figure were received at the regular Sunday morning service. The treasurer's report showed the church to be in a flourishing condition.

A total of 152 pupils enrolled in St. Paul school was shown by the report of Ernst Schultz, principal. There are four people on the teaching staff. The standard of efficiency of the eight grades was indicated in a statement that all but three of last year's graduates had entered high school and were

HIGH WIND BATTLES ICE FISHERMEN ON BIG LAKE

George Coon, 644 South Division street, and son R. E. Coon, 356 South River street, had a thrilling experience on Lake Winnebago Sunday morning. They visited their fishing shanty about a mile off Wawesa beach and after catching a string of fish started for shore in the fierce blizzard that was raging. They had to face the wind and were unable to make any progress on the smooth ice. The shore was obscured by the snow and one time it looked as if they would be swept to the opposite side of the lake. The only way they could progress was by making for the ridges of snow on which they could hold their own. They were over an hour in reaching shore. The father froze his ear and nose and the son froze his nose.

Tickets for admission should meet Mrs. E. E. Dunn at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Appleton Woman's club.

STEEL COMPANIES ARE OPERATING AT CAPACITY

G. D. Harris, General Manager of the U. S. Trustor & Machinery company of Menasha, has returned from a trip which included visits to some of the biggest steel mills in Pennsylvania.

"The steel industry is one of the best indicators in the world conditions in any country," Mr. Harris said. "When the steel mills are busy it follows naturally they have orders for steel and such is the case in the steel factory centers. The Carnegie company shattered their production record during the month of December. The Edgar Thomas Steel Works exceeded the 100 per cent production in the same month; the Westinghouse company is running nights to take care of its railway equipment orders, and practically every plant which shut down is running again, and incidentally the shut-downs were not made for the purpose of breaking the back of labor either. Many repairs were necessary."

"I notice that 7,000 retail shoe dealers at the convention in Milwaukee are reported as placing substantial orders."

Compare these things with a few disgruntled tobacco raisers in Kentucky who claim they are not going to raise any crops at all next year, and you will see that the thinking people of the country are going ahead.

"So far as our company is concerned," said Mr. Harris, "we are going after things harder than ever. All of our branches are reporting business in such a condition that we have felt justified in placing our orders so that we will be protected for supplies during 1921."

FIRST ENG. LUTHERAN CHURCH HOLDS MEETING

Morris Locke was elected elder at the annual meeting of the congregation of the First English Lutheran church Sunday afternoon. Other officers elected were: Leonard, Gus Tomke, trustee; Arthur Melzer, general treasurer; Emil Werner, financial secretary; Frank Schmiede, recording secretary; William Block.

Reports from the various officers showed that the congregation is enjoying a healthy growth in membership, and the finances are in the best of shape. The budget for this year is $2,300.

Poultry Meeting
There will be an important meeting of Fox River Valley Poultry and Pot Game association at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at the office of the Western Elevator company. Arrangements will be completed for the poultry show.

MAJESTIC 3 DAYS 3 Starting Today

WANDA HAWLEY AND HARRISON FORD IN "Food For Scandal"

Wanda Hawley again demonstrated that she is of real "star" material; that her beauty, personality and exquisite comedy sense are combined with a versatile genius which gives her many points of appeal. For delightful as was "Miss Hobbs," her first starring vehicle, "Food For Scandal," now playing gives her a different but even more felicitous role.

Bolshevism Has No Claim To Worthwhile Achievement

Dr. Samuel Harper Tells About His Observations in Soviet Russia.

"I have not been able to convince myself that Bolshevism can claim any constructive achievement," said Dr. Samuel N. Harper of Chicago University in his lecture on "Russia and Bolshevism" before the People's Forum in Lawrence Memorial hall Sunday evening. "There is no question," he said, "but the situation in Russia is very difficult. Lenin admits it and Bolshevist newspapers give a sad picture of the conditions that prevail and recognize that their main work is ahead. They are pleased with negotiating a trade agreement with England but are disappointed that the anticipated support of their movement in other countries has not developed."

That Prof. Harper has made a thorough study of the Russian situation is one to which question who heard him. He is so filled with his subject that at the conclusion of his lecture of an hour and a half he took up from ten to fifteen minutes in answering some of the questions put to him, going in to detail on schools which he said were used for spreading propaganda. The Rev. L. B. Wood presided.

"The whole question, it seems to me," said Prof. Harper, "really turns out whether in these countries of Central Europe the economic situations will be met during the next few months. I have been receiving Bolshevist newspapers, official publications of the Soviet government, and I find that I can draw the conclusion that Bolshevism has met with opposition on the part of workmen and peasants and that discipline has collapsed. I also find that the amount of work has dropped off."

Prof. Harper stated in the early part of his lecture that he became interested in Russia several years ago, going there the first time in 1904. "Leaving at the end of 1905 and going back again I became acquainted with a man in that period the fame of whose name, Nicholas Lenin, has become world wide. Lenin returned from foreign exile to participate in that movement of 1904 to 1906. I became acquainted with him and his program."

Revolt Gains Few Rights

"The revolution of 1904-6 was only partially successful. A few rights were secured from the autocratic government. Certain changes were secured to make more terrible the life of the peasant who represents 85 per cent of that government. I went back again in 1906 and from then until 1914 I was in Russia almost every year studying the development of the progress that was made. I was interested in the political principles and economic problems. I was not interested in the autocratic government."

"I went to Russia in the second year of the war, 1915, just after her serious military defeats. I was interested in the effect that the war had on the political conditions of the country. I went back again in 1916 to get another view of the political situation. I came back in 1916 frankly expressing doubt as to military Russia as a factor in the war because of the economic conditions that had developed. These economic conditions were inevitable because of awkwardness to her immense size."

"I noted clearly that there was more than this point, there was another reason of economic distress, the shortsightedness of the government administration. I was in this country when the revolution came in March 1917. I was not surprised. I started to Russia as soon as I could. We had gotten into war, but I thought my interest was in Russia because we had gotten into war."

Were Real Leaders

Prof. Harper described the conditions that prevailed and said that he found at the head of the government those men he had known, many personally, as leaders of the progressive group working in various groups. They were trying to improve the conditions of life. It was recognized that the peasants needed more land and that something must be done to give it to them as quickly as possible. Those who had assumed leadership in March 1917, were representatives of the best interest, particularly as the working men of Europe see it. "These leaders," said Prof. Harper, "had a difficult task. There was much confusion of mind and economic distress. The military situation at that time was most serious."

Dr. Harper stated that in the summer of 1917 Lenin gathered around him a group of similarly minded socialists and started a social revolution that found fertile soil. He took definite stand against the war which he considered was an imperialistic war, a war of capitalists, and came out frankly against the existing government. The movement was to be made international and the peasants were promised land and soldiers were promised peace. Lenin planned a destructive program which was to be followed by a constructive one.

This group headed by Lenin got control of the political power of Russia. The program implied the use of force. After three years of civil war he has got control of former Russia with the exception of Finland and Poland. Lenin anticipated the blockade of soviet Russia because he knew the war conditions. He announced that an effort would be made to develop a corresponding movement in other countries. Lenin's explanation to the working men and peasants was that his revolution would mean peace, land and bread. At present there are no foreign troops on Russian soil. They have either withdrawn or been driven out.

Lenine says that the Russian revolution is only a link in a chain of revolutions. The movement is essentially an international one but he is disappointed with the slowness with which it has developed in other countries.

SALESMAN AVERS HE HAD 'TRICK' STOMACH

"Those hurry-up meals put my stomach on the blink," Kozak was put to the acid-test in my case. My food wouldn't digest right. I suffered from gastritis, sour stomach and a bloated feeling after every meal until Kozak fixed me up." So declared W. Scheele, 409 25th avenue, Milwaukee, well known here. "Yes I can eat a good square meal now without any regrets afterwards. Kozak increased my appetite and banished headaches and that continual tired feeling. I recommend it most heartily."

SHORT COURSE IN POULTRY RAISING

Department of Agriculture Will Cover Field in Ten Days' Work.

The poultry department of the university of Wisconsin college of agriculture will give its first poultry short course in connection with the farmers' course to be held at Madison February 1 to 10. Quite a number of Outagamie county poultrymen are planning to attend. "There have been many requests for such a course," says J. B. Hayes, of the poultry department in a letter to J. C. Ryan of this city, "but we have not been able to handle it before. With eggs up, feed down, and a large number of the state hens using electric lights in trying to figure it all out, we have decided to lend the helping hand."

"We are going to cover the poultry business from soup to nuts, but it won't be dressed up in a hammer tail coat. Every lecture will be demonstrated by a wealth of material that will help to clear all the little doubts that a poultry keeper has. The work will be so arranged that it will fit the needs of anyone from the fifteen hen owner in the back yard thru the farmer or poultry keeper, and the large commercial plant."

"We will arrange to have some of the real big men in poultry affairs here for the week. The program will be so arranged that it will not conflict with the lectures to be given by agriculturists of national reputation at the regular course. You can combine courses in the one week."

COLLEGE "L" CLUB SELECTS OFFICERS

Organization of Athletes Is Formed to Promote School's Interest.

Donald McGlynn, Wisconsin Rapids, was elected temporary president of the newly organized "L" club at Lawrence college. Other officers are Walter Hunting, Racine, vice-president; Leonard Brumm, Birnamwood, treasurer, and Clement Ketchum, Eau Claire, secretary.

A committee on the constitution was appointed to be composed of Clement Ketchum, Donald Dyer and Coach McChesney.

All "L" men are eligible to this organization whether in school or outside.

Activities of the club will begin as soon as the constitution of the organization is prepared. It is expected this association will be the largest and most influential on the campus.

The functions of the club are to line up work around the college and in town for athletes who are in need of help and can handle the jobs; to get new athletes into college; and to promote athletics in general throughout the college. It is also the object to keep in touch with "L" men after they leave school.

The club decided all members should wear a distinctive cap to distinguish them when they are not wearing their sweaters.

Clubs of this kind are established in practically all of the colleges and universities and have proved a great help to schools in athletic work.

BAR CHAPERONES FROM PIN TOURNEY

Woman's Club Bowlers Preparing for Match Games This Month.

"It's the old, old story of the chaperone but with a decidedly new angle. Most people think chaperones are an awful nuisance but the bowling teams of the Appleton Women's club find them an asset to their scores."

When several of the chaperones who accompany the teams to the Arcade alleys for their regular games proved the value of the regular score makers of high standing, the teams insisted that the chaperones be allowed to play in the tournament. After much discussion, however, the chaperones were ruled out of the matches because not all of their number have been taking active part in the bowling.

Not to be entirely deprived of their activity, the chaperones have been awarded the positions of score keepers for the big event which will take place Jan. 22-23 at the Arcade alleys. Each team will pick its own representatives and as a result individual scores are being watched with much eagerness. The participants in the tournament will be the consistent scorers from each group.

START ENGINEER COURSE AT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

A class in steam engineering was opened at the vocational school last week and will meet each Thursday from now on. There was a large enrollment at the first session, including about 20 men from Kimberly-Clark company plants.

The course teaches the underlying principles in the general field of engineering. Many types of boilers are to be studied together with accessories and equipment found in boiler rooms. There will also be a study of fuels and firing.

V. D. George, instructor in steam and mechanical engineering for the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, conducts the classes. There are 16 lessons in all.

AUTO MEN AND GROCERS WILL GO TO GREEN BAY

Automobile dealers of the Fox River valley will meet in Green Bay February 19 to organize the Northeastern Wisconsin Automobile Dealers association. Several Appleton garage owners expect to attend out of the 100 or more who are to make up the new organization.

This event and a meeting of the Fox River Valley Grocers association are scheduled during the week of an industrial exhibition put on by the jobbers' division of the Green Bay Association of Commerce. Wholesalers and retailers from a wide territory will be present and most of the firms doing business in this section will have booths at the armory.

SAVED HER LIFE SAYS CEDAR RAPIDS WOMAN

Only Weighed 79 Pounds and Believes Her Case Was Hopeless When She Began Taking Tanlac—Gains 27 Pounds and Feels Fine.

"I had suffered for twenty years and had fallen off till I weighed only seventy-nine pounds, but Tanlac has built me up until I have gained twenty-seven pounds and feel like starting life over again," said Mrs. Cora Hoe, 1000 O Avenue West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"It was in 1909 that my health broke down. There was hardly a day that I was free from pain and I lost so much in weight that it frightened me. I had the 'flu' twice and after that was operated on once. I was at almost a complete nervous wreck. My appetite was poor. I had cramps in my stomach that were just about all I could bear and my case seemed hopeless."

"But I firmly believe Tanlac saved my life. This was over a year ago and I have enjoyed just splendid health ever since. My appetite is fine and I now weigh one hundred and six pounds. I am doing my housework now and feel so strong that I even go out and work in our little fruit farm."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt, P. O. Brown, Shorten, Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek, H. E. Abend, Dale, R. E. Lowell, Little Chute, adv.

CABBAGE PRICE GOES UP; SHIPPING MAY RESUME

Cabbage shipments are said to have taken a new spurt because of the upward trend of prices. The product which commanded a price of only $5 to $6 a ton a few weeks ago is bringing from $8 to $11 a ton on the Chicago market. There is still a large amount of cabbage in storage in various points of the country. The demand has been light and farmers are said to be awaiting higher prices.

THE STAGE

A Voice With a Message

It's a long, long way from Oshkosh where May Peterson started her musical career in the choir of her father's church, to prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, generally recognized as the greatest opera company in the world. It is another long journey from Coast to Coast but Miss Peterson has made both and covered herself with glory both in grand opera and as a concert star.

"You see I was a poor girl," she said, "one of eight children, and my father died when I was but thirteen. I had to struggle and sacrifice to get my musical education. It meant facing many a rebuff; it meant many a night awake with a despondent head on a tear-stained pillow."

"It was a fight against ruthless fate to get to Paris and study with Jean de Reszke. I did that when I was eighteen. It was a hardship to sit up all night reading to a blind old woman in Berlin in order to obtain the little money, one mark, which would buy me breakfast, dinner and supper next day, thus allowing me to continue my studies. It was a struggle, and a grim one, to carry out my father's teaching that I had a message in my voice for the world." There grim pictures of courage and self-denial; the little three dollar per week room in the Latin Quarter of Paris with its rented piano; the almost hopeless struggle at times, to keep her soul alive and her body clothed and nourished; the proud determination to win at all costs to carry out her father's wish to give her glorious voice to gladden the world, only deepen the interest and make us all proud of this sterling example of young American womanhood.

Miss Peterson will appear in recital at Lawrence Memorial chapel tomorrow night at 8:20 o'clock. This number will be the fourth on the Appleton Community Lecture and Artist Series. Tickets are on sale at the Y. M. C. A.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK

This is National Thrift week; a week in which various agencies attempt to inculcate in the minds of the people the value of Thrift and prudent expenditures of money. The movement is fostered in Appleton, as in a great many other cities, by the Y. M. C. A. which is working in conjunction with various other organizations. This year the Boy Scouts of Appleton will play an important part through their effort of spreading thrift propaganda and selling thrift stamps.

While Thrift week has been an institution of several years standing, having been one of the good things that came out of the war, yet it is doubtful if any year since the inauguration of this movement has brought home so forcibly, its extreme importance as has this.

Thousands throughout the nation today can look with pleasure and thankfulness upon the bank account which was accumulated during the days, weeks and months of high wages, when a part of those wages were laid aside as a result of the great Thrift movement.

On the other hand there are thousands of unemployed throughout the land today who did not heed the thrift warning of the past few years and are now in desperate straits, in most instances made so by the reckless, extravagant expenditure of money.

The war period was a time when easy-money, fifty-cent dollars could have been accumulated and laid away in waiting for the "rainy day" period which exists in a great many localities today. Fortunately Appleton and Outagamie county have not been as hard hit as a great many other communities, but it has had a small sample of these conditions during the past several weeks. Enough evidence we believe to bring the necessity of thrift observance to the people of our city and vicinity. It is perhaps more imperative today than at any time during the war that thrift should be practiced in every way possible. We have no assurance that conditions will remain as good as they are at present.

Absolute necessity has already forced many to cut out every extravagance and waste. It has forced them to save every possible nickel. Had such a policy been religiously followed during the past few years, unemployment would not be a matter of serious concern today. Loss of a position would not hold the fear and dread as it does today if a nice fat bank account was available.

Those who have not yet observed the thrift principles of accumulating a nest egg for the future should find today's conditions sufficient warning to bring them to a full realization of its importance.

Let's all begin now to do the sensible thing: Be thrifty.

TIME TO TAKE THE LEADERSHIP

It seems to be a question whether the conferences with the "best minds" at Marion, out of which were to be evolved the policies and the cabinet of the new administration, are to produce the results expected by Mr. Harding, for the president-elect is expatiating on the troubles which beset him. As a member of the senate Mr. Harding was used to the yon-pat-me-on-the-back and I'll pat-you-on-the-back way of transacting public business. Everything was first reduced to the basis of political expediency or personal favor and the rest was easy.

It was natural for a man trained in the practices of the senate to seek to apply them to the presidency, but Mr. Harding is finding that it does not work. He started out, for instance, to select a "strong" cabinet of "big" men. Although it was perfectly apparent who these men were, the president-elect almost immediately found out that there were also "big" men, or at least big politicians, arrayed against them. Mr. Root was the obvious choice for secretary of state, but was promptly rejected by Borah and Johnson. Mr. Hughes will make a capable secretary of state, and while he is nominally slated for the place, there is vigorous opposition to him and it may succeed. It was obvious that Hoover should have a seat in the cabinet if the list were to be carried out in good faith, but Mr. Harding soon learned of his sins of omission, for had he not served President Wilson and loyally stood with him throughout the war? So it appears that one of the most able administrators in the country if not the world is in danger of being cast aside.

There is a General Waves of Chicago, a great authority on banking and finance, and when Mr. Harding took to the suggestion that the administration honor itself by making General Dawes secretary of the treasury what was the president-elect's mortification to find from certain of the "big" men of the party that this excellent prospect was utterly disqualified by the fact that he had once referred to Mr. McAdoo as a great secretary. And so on down the line. The "best minds" of the party are unable to agree upon a cabinet. Every really competent man for the cabinet, if we are to have a "strong" cabinet, is hated by some powerful politician.

The same thing applies to the policies of the incoming administration. Mr. Harding set out to please everybody and up to date nobody appears to be pleased. One after one the great minds have come and gone from Marion and few were able to conceal their disappointment. Of course Senator Penrose regards these troubles of the president-elect as of no consequence. "It doesn't make any difference who is appointed secretary of state," says the Pennsylvania boss, which can only mean that whether we have an assertive or pliable cabinet, the senate is to control and dictate governmental policies.

It is time for Mr. Harding to take things in his own hands. He has proceeded far enough to prove himself that a compromise cabinet and compromise policies which are to have the approval of all the discordant elements and competing politicians can't be had. It is time for him to strike out on his own hook, select his own cabinet, define his own policies and let the politicians make the best of it. They will accept resolute leadership, but they will run away with indecision.

THE FRENCH RULING POWER

When is a president not a president? "Why, when he's president of France!" everybody replies. But this may not be the answer if Alexandre Millerand comes out on top in his battle with the French parliament. Millerand is ambitious. He wants to be president of France. He already has the title and the salary. But the parliament of France now is the real president. It has been so since France turned from Bourbonism and Napoleonism to Republicanism.

Millerand may not succeed. He may have to let parliament choose his cabinet; but no man who knows Millerand well believes one contest will end it. He is not alone in the desire to make the president, and not parliament, the chief executive of France. As it now stands the French president is elected by parliament. He has few responsibilities. The cabinet is selected by the premier, who must be acceptable to a majority in the chamber of deputies, and who can be overthrown at any time by a majority. The president cannot exercise executive power without getting the counter signature of a minister, who in turn is responsible to the chamber. He is a mere figurehead. That is why few great Frenchmen have been willing to accept this presidency.

There are many Frenchmen who insist that the president never can be the real ruler until the power of election is removed from parliament and placed in the people. Now, he is chosen by majority vote of parliament, which has displayed a disposition to select men who would be satisfied with the title and salary. In Millerand's case was produced at the time of election a man who pulled a Caesar. He is a man of great talent.

Whether Millerand, now wins or loses in his contest with parliament, the fall of Premier Raymond marks the possible beginning of a change in the French government. It is expected to lead to a popular election of president of France, who shall be executive, and a parliament to purely legislative powers. Such a government would bring France nearer to the American ideal and farther from the British form.

MORE AUTODETOXICATION

In the last lecture on the subject of autodetoxification I made my usual assertion that there is no such thing as autodetoxification so far as anybody has yet been able to prove, and I followed this assertion up in my usual way of explaining that mere injury or worry over the future of the bowels to act, as the introspective individual thinks they should act, accounts for the disagreeable symptoms which come on so soon after such worry begins, symptoms all too familiar to victims of the autodetoxification obsession, but which I do not intend to mention here.

What between the lifelong teaching of old Doctor Bunk and his almanac and the thousand and one nostrum vendors who first hand the prospect the symptoms and then sell him the dope therefor, and the apocryphal, though all too plausible explanations of fifty-seven varieties of modern drugless charlatans, the average dub, mutt or gink—you know, the glib layman—harbors a more or less settled conviction that health, life, and happiness all hinge largely upon the free and regular action of the bowels. There is actually a popular obsession that whatever else is done or not done in any illness it is always the proper thing to take a brisk cathartic. Indeed, a lot of folks whose thoughts are not more than a millimeter deep think of a physic as something that removes poisonous matter from the "system" or from the blood, whereas in fact, no physic accomplishes any such effect.

Now, please do not throw the paper down in disgust and please do not write in to tell me how crazy I am and how you can't see why they let me publish such idiotic stuff as this. It may seem idiotic, no doubt it must seem utterly unreasonable to any one who has been brought up on alleged liver regulations, blood purifiers and uric acid mythology such as the almanac and the nostrum testimonials have always glorified. I am simply stating a fundamental fact when I say that a laxative, purgative, physic or cathartic does not remove any poisonous or deleterious substance from the blood or the general system; it merely excites the peristaltic movement of the bowels. And here I wish to testify that the preliminary physicking which has featured the treatment of so many acute illnesses and indispositions is usually unnecessary (since the patient does, as well or better without it) and in some cases it is distinctly harmful, since it may be unwise to stir up the intestine, as in the case of appendicitis or any other acute localized inflammation of the bowels. The popular custom of taking a physic for every complaint is, therefore, by no means so commendable as is generally thought.

In so far as any harmful effects may be concerned if the influence of anxiety or worry can be avoided, failure of the bowels to act need never give any particular concern over a period of forty-eight hours, in child or adult. It is rather inadvisable to resort to any artificial aid to bowel action within that period.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Enslage Feed

Several in our neighborhood are feeding our babies cow's milk, and it is claimed by a doctor here that milk from cows fed ensilage is not good to feed a baby. I claim that it would do no harm. Would you please tell us through your column? (Mrs. A. J. W.)

ANSWER—I know no objection to silage as feed for cows furnishing milk for babies.

Rolling Troubles Away

I am a woman 42 years old and thanks to your splendid advice I now have much more ambition and pep than I had five years ago. I live on a farm and work outside. I take your treatment of more than thirty rolls a day besides the efficiency exercises you have suggested. (Ragnia)

ANSWER—SHE and all lots of women on the farm take their troubles to bed with them and wake up next morning too tired for anything—they imagine they work too hard.

Piles

What do you recommend for piles? (A. A. L.)
ANSWER—Send for letter of advice. But I may say here that alleviation is all you can expect until operation is done for radical cure. Piles are various, and no medicine or other treatment short of surgery ever cures them, though of course long intervals of comfort occur between "attacks" in many cases.

Women Juries Now Popular

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City—Impressed by the inability of women juries in New Jersey, New York is now considering the advisability of introducing women jurors into its courts.

Haskin

Women of the Jury" will be an established form in the courts.

With the change in the law, jury service will become an obligation on the part of women just as much as it is today with the men, and they will be subjected to the same strict rules. The present law provides that any person subpoenaed for jury duty who fails to respond is subject to punishment for contempt of court, and may be fined to the extent of $100. It is doubtful whether this compulsory feature of the law will prove any more popular with women than with men, after the novelty of jury duty wears off, but for the first few years there will probably be few attempts at evasions.

Under present conditions, the courts are having more and more difficulty in obtaining competent juries of men. No man, it seems, will serve on a jury if he can possibly avoid it. Already masculine ingenuity has been strained in inventing a large assortment of excuses from jury duty, and it may be that in the future a long list of feminine excuses will be offered, headed by "necessary shopping" and "bridge club meetings."

But, so far, women have shown themselves much more interested in jury duty than men.

It was Judge Daniel A. Dugan of the Essex county court, Orange, N. J., who first tried the experiment in this part of the country. In November, the judge suddenly found his panel of 300 men jurors drawn for his court at the beginning of the year running out, all of the men finding excuses of one kind or another to relieve them of the work. So, being more annoyed than usual, he took the radical alternative of drafting the newly enfranchised New Jersey women.

An Aristocratic Jury

The women chosen were carefully picked, and represented some of the best families of Orange. Much to the surprise of the court, they appeared promptly in answer to the summons, and none offered an excuse to avoid serving. At the last moment, it is true, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison telephoned the judge and asked to be excused because her husband was ill, but she said that she would find some way to come if he could not find someone else to take her place.

According to Mrs. Everett Colby, who was appointed forewoman of the jury, the women talked the matter over and decided that since they had aimed the ballot after such a long, hard fight they ought not to object to fulfilling its responsibility; when the call to jury duty came they would accept it without complaint.

"It was the most interesting experience," Mrs. Colby declared when the trial was over, and the ladies were discussing its features in the domestic atmosphere of an Orange tearoom. "It was the first time I had ever had the chance to watch the operations of a court, and there were lots of things we didn't understand, but, of course, we couldn't interrupt to ask questions."

"The most astounding thing to me was when two witnesses swore to exactly the opposite thing on the same point. We had to decide between them as to which was telling the truth, and we had nothing at all to go upon. We knew nothing about their history or what kind of people they were, and yet we had to determine which one was lying, and which one was telling the truth. Of course, one of them was lying. But he was permitted to come into court and swear to a lie that he knew was a lie, and the jury decided against him, decided that he was lying, but he was allowed to go without any of the being done to him."

"Our case, of course, was a simple one," continued Mrs. Colby. "There were three brothers, and the dentist had taken one of his brothers and kept him in school, sending him through high school. Afterward, the boy became a huckster, but also helped in the office of his brother, the dentist. One of the witnesses, a woman, testified that she went to the dentist's office one evening at 8 o'clock and the boy tried to pull a tooth for her, but the tooth broke, and blood began to flow. The boy told her she would have to go away and come back again when the tooth stopped bleeding.

A Sample Case

"She went away and when she came back her jaw was terribly swollen and she was suffering intensely. The boy explained that he could do nothing until the swelling went down, but as the pain was so great, she decided that she must have treatment immediately and went to another dentist. The new dentist treated her and extracted the piece of tooth left in her jaw, and told her to take it back to the other dentist and show him what had been done.

"The three brothers all swore that the boy was merely a huckster, and that he had never been in the dentist's office and had never worn a white coat in his life. But the woman positively identified the boy and other witnesses also identified him and said he had treated them in his brother's office. The boy was placed in a group of men seated in the courtroom, instead of on the platform, and still the witnesses had no difficulty in picking him out. They were also very positive in their statements and could not be confused, and they didn't have any reason to be against the boy unless he had been in the office."

Furthermore, the boy did not make a good impression in the courtroom. He had a regular Charlie Chaplin mustache, a lovely complexion and big, eloquent brown eyes, but he was too pert and flippant and sure of his ground.

"I'd much rather be tried by a jury of women than by a jury of men," he remarked on the morning that the case opened. "Women wouldn't be fair to a woman who was being tried, but with a man it'll be different. I'm satisfied, all right."

Thus the decision of the jury must have burst upon the young man with a tremendous shock. For it took them almost no time at all to find him guilty of the serious offense of practicing dentistry without a license. At first two of the twelve women were inclined to acquit him because they felt sorry for his brother, who had worked so hard to educate him, and who would now probably lose a good deal of his practice, but these did not hold out very long. The decision came in just seventeen minutes.

Judge Likes Women Jurors

Judge Dugan was tremendously pleased with the result of this trial. It was, he declared, precisely the decision he would have made himself. Since then he has been encouraged to repeat the experiment.

"We have found women juries an unqualified success," he said recently, "and they have had the effect of making men juries easier to get. The men seem a little ashamed of themselves and they are not offering so many excuses to escape serving. I think including women in the jury lists will make the whole business of jury-getting easier. It doubles the number of available jurors, for one thing."

"It is also possible to get a higher type of woman to serve on a jury—the same type of men are too busy to serve. Some of the male juries we have are almost feeble-minded, and the verdicts they render are absolutely ridiculous. I have thrown out many verdicts of men juries and ordered retrials. Sometimes I let them stand, because it doesn't make any difference, anyway. But after the verdicts are too irrelevant to the facts."

Judge Dugan is not sure that women would be as efficient in a murder case, or along-drawn-out civil case, where every point is the basis of a long argument. They would get tired, of course, but then it is not an unusual sight to see a masculine jury nodding and dozing in the jury box, entirely oblivious to important testimony. Women could not do any worse than this, he says.

Anyway, the judge is going to try it, and see what happens. The panel of 300 jurors for the Orange court this year is to be made up of 150 men and 150 women. And the next thing that is to be tried in court is a mixed jury of six men and six women. For the mixed jury, it is believed, will be the most successful kind of a jury ever developed under our judicial system.

Little Suggestions to Telephone Users

When you signal the telephone operator and ask for a number she repeats it. She is trained to follow this practice in order to be sure she has heard you correctly.

It is a good plan to answer "Yes," "Right" or something similar if the operator's reply shows that she has rightly understood you. Then she is sure and can make the proper connection without loss of time.

When a conversation is finished, it is well for both parties to say "Good-bye." This often avoids an extra call made in the belief that the users have been "cut off" in the midst of their conversation.

19 ARRESTED IN GREEN BAY RAID

Brown County Attorney Takes First Step to Drive Out Undesirables.

Green Bay.—Nineteen persons were arrested at Herman Wurtzel's saloon in the town of Howard last Saturday night. The raid was staged by District Attorney Carl E. Young, assisted by Undersheriff Jake Thier and nine deputies. It was the first step of Attorney Young's program to clean up Brown county. Among those arrested were nine women and ten men, including Wurtzel, owner and proprietor of the saloon. All of those arrested were lodged in the county jail Saturday night. Eight of those arrested, four men and four women, were arraigned before Judge Monahan at a special session of District court Sunday morning and fined $10 and costs each. The four women arraigned Sunday morning, Marie Perry, Lillian Williams, Jane Knight, and Jean Schuch, were members of a vaudeville troupe which closed its engagement at a local theater Saturday night. They were arraigned in order that they might get to their vaudeville show place in time for the opening performance. The men, who gave their names as Forrest Hutton, A. G. Nelson, B. W. Brunt and H. W. Morris, were Chicago and Milwaukee traveling men. According to Attorney Young, three touring cars containing the raiding party left Green Bay at 11 o'clock Saturday night and arrived at the Wurtzel roadhouse at 11:45 p. m. All couples were placed under arrest, while men without a woman were released. No women without escorts were found. It was alleged, The Green Bay police patrol was called and took those arrested to the city. The charges against the men and women who were patrons of the Wurtzel saloon was frequenting a house of ill fame. Wurtzel was taken into custody on the charge of being the operator.

PLAN MILLION DOLLAR BANK AT SHEBOYGAN

Sheboygan.—The directors of the Security National bank have been authorized by the stockholders to form a company to erect a seven story bank and office building, estimated to cost $1,000,000.

The bank will occupy the first floor and basement, and the Association of Commerce will be housed in the two top floors, which will be used as business offices, social quarters and ball and dining room. A modern roof garden will be provided in connection. Construction will be commenced as soon as the weather permits in the spring. Brust & Philipp, Milwaukee, are the architects.

U. S. NOT FAVORABLE TO DEEPENING CHANNEL

There appears little prospect that the Fox river channel will be deepened between Neenah and Green Bay, judging from a recent conference between Green Bay and DePere business men and United States engineers at Milwaukee.

The men of these two cities asked that the river be deepened between Green Bay and DePere so that boats drawing 20 feet of water could ply between the two cities. The fact that the engineers offered little encouragement for this partial improvement looks fair to indicate that the larger project would not be considered. It was held that the amount of commerce did not warrant the expenditure.

Within the past six months Germany has delivered to France and Belgium a total of 20,000 horses, 125,000 sheep, 50,000 cattle.

SOCIALISTS WILL NOT DEBATE HANSEN

Irving St. John Tucker Declines Constitutional Defense League's Invitation.

Racine.—Taking it for granted that the socialists were sincere when they advertised for a week ahead of time that they would hold an open meeting Sunday afternoon at Dania hall at which time Irving St. John Tucker would give an address, the Constitutional Defense league invaded the open meeting and brought with them Ole Hansen, former mayor of Seattle. Mr. Hansen challenged Mr. Tucker from the floor to a debate and the open meeting developed into a near riot and then subsided into a closed meeting, when the socialists refused to allow a debate with Mr. Hansen.

Hansen Issues Challenge When Mr. Hansen arose from his seat and challenged a statement made by Mr. Tucker regarding the American and socialist governments and offered to debate the question, the socialists in the audience arose and drowned his challenge with howls and hisses. Mr. Hansen, however, would not be howled down and demanded a hearing. After deliberating a while with a committee of socialists, Mr. Tucker asked Mr. Hansen to put the question for debate. Mr. Hansen put the question as follows: "Resolved that the socialist form of government is not superior to the American form of government." Mr. Tucker refused to debate the question in that form, but said he would defend the question as follows: "Resolved that the socialist form of government is superior to the present form of American government."

He was greeted with loud cheering from the audience. Hansen, however, accepted and the cheering turned into worried silence. Mr. Tucker again went into consultation with the socialist committee and then announced that the audience would be permitted to say whether the debate would take place. The audience, 55 per cent socialist, voted the debate down amid much shouting for Tucker to continue with his address.

Following the incident, Ole Hansen issued a statement denouncing the party as not having the courage to stand behind its own convictions under circumstances greatly in its favor.

The committee, of which Senator Antone Kuckuk of Shawano is chairman, examined more than a thousand teachers in the course of its inquiry. Other members of the committee are: Senator George E. Skogmo of River Falls, Assemblymen Riley S. Young of Darion, R. M. Hansen of Waupaca county, and John T. Williams of Iowa county.

"The present Wisconsin teachers retirement fund is in such a straightened financial condition that some action must be taken by the legislature to put it on a sound and financial footing," said Kuckuk. "With the cooperation of teachers and interested people of the state a new plan has been worked out which greatly changes the scope of the present law. 'First of all every teacher who has made contributions to the present teachers' fund will receive all of the benefits that are promised. Their every right and privilege has been sacredly guarded in working out the plan.'"

"The tentative plan which we are developing will not only be open to the teachers outside of Milwaukee, but normal school teachers and the university staff may be brought within its provisions if the legislature so desires. The essential care of the new plan is that it is designed to aid in old age the teacher who desires to dedicate her life to the state. Under the present law each teacher is contributing from 1 to 2 per cent of her annual salary to the support of the fund. In round numbers, 9,000 of these teachers, according to statistics gathered, never intended to follow the teaching profession 18 are in the service at the end of 25 years. To meet the objection of teachers who do not intend to continue as such, the suggested plan asks for no contribution for a teacher under 25 years of age. It is proposed to take a contribution out of the teachers' salary of 5 per cent. At the end of each year the state will make a contribution determined by the amount of the teachers' deposits and increasing with the length of service."

"Under the new plan a teacher whose service has brought her an annual income of $300 will by the state's and her contributions have built up at the age of 50 a fund of $4,951 and will be entitled to an annuity of $336 while she lives. The same teacher at the same salary, retiring at the age of 55, would have an annuity of $518; at the age of 60, $731; and at the age of 65, $1,207."

SCHOOL HEALTH WORK MEETING OPPOSITION

Green Bay.—The local branch of the American Liberty league has opened a fight against the health work being carried in the Green Bay schools. At a meeting they drafted a resolution combatting the compulsory vaccination order. Turning this action an infringement on personal rights, the protesters plan to equip their children with warning cards which are to be used to ease the pupils are called on for physical examination. The statement on the card carries a threat of legal and financial prosecution. This organization also opposes the weighing of school children and other forms of physical examination under way in city schools.

Under the present law each teacher is contributing from 1 to 2 per cent of her annual salary to the support of the fund. In round numbers, 9,000 of these teachers, according to statistics gathered, never intended to follow the teaching profession 18 are in the service at the end of 25 years. To meet the objection of teachers who do not intend to continue as such, the suggested plan asks for no contribution for a teacher under 25 years of age. It is proposed to take a contribution out of the teachers' salary of 5 per cent. At the end of each year the state will make a contribution determined by the amount of the teachers' deposits and increasing with the length of service."

"Under the new plan a teacher whose service has brought her an annual income of $300 will by the state's and her contributions have built up at the age of 50 a fund of $4,951 and will be entitled to an annuity of $336 while she lives. The same teacher at the same salary, retiring at the age of 55, would have an annuity of $518; at the age of 60, $731; and at the age of 65, $1,207."

TEACHER PENSION LAW WOULD TAKE 5 PER CENT FROM PAY

Senator Kuckuk Working on Bill to Revise Retirement Fund Scheme.

(By United Press.) Madison, Wis.—A new teachers' pension law, which would require teachers to pay 5 per cent of their annual salary into a teacher's retirement fund which would be increased by contributions from the state, will be recommended in the report of the legislative committee, it was stated here today. The committee recently concluded a year's investigation of the teachers' pension system. The report which will be made public shortly, recommends that the tax be made on all the teachers over 25 years and that it embrace teachers in normal schools and on the state university staff.

At present teachers are required to contribute 2 per cent of their salaries to the support of the fund and specifies they must be in service at least 25 years before they can benefit by the fund. The bill which the committee recommends, would allow them to retire at any time but specifies that the amount of the pension would be determined by the amount of their contributions and the number of years employed.

The committee, of which Senator Antone Kuckuk of Shawano is chairman, examined more than a thousand teachers in the course of its inquiry. Other members of the committee are: Senator George E. # Substantial Increase In Appleton Bank Savings

TODAY is Bank day of National Thrift week, observed in practically every city in the United States. Today's effort is concentrated on preaching the gospel of maintaining a bank account as an umbrella for a rainy day. Appleton bankers are cooperating in the thrift movement by spreading bank account propaganda in all possible ways.

Thrift of Appleton people in 1929 is indicated by a per capita increase of $36.44 in savings deposits in Appleton banks and a total increase of nearly a million dollars in deposits subject to check.

Savings deposits in local banks at the close of business Dec. 31, 1929, aggregated $4,152,373, as compared with $3,784,424 on Dec. 31, 1919, an increase of $368,955.

When it is considered that not half of the city's population is in a position to work and earn, the savings of those who increased their bank accounts during the year was considerable. The big increase in deposits subject to check, from $2,331,236 in 1919 to $2,464,962 at the close of business last year, also represents a considerable addition to the city's permanent wealth.

Resources of Appleton banks during the year increased slightly more than a million dollars and now aggregate $10,526,601.90.

Cash on hand and other cash items amounted but little during the year. At the close of business these items totaled $819,531.31 and a year ago they were $819,532.31.

Banks decreased their holdings of government securities by approximately $11,700. They now total $1,136,175.

Advocate Return to Old Road Work Plan

Some of the farmers in the town of Center contemplate advocating a return to the old road keeping system. They believe roads would be in a better condition than with the present patrol system.

The main highways are well kept by the patrolmen, but the side roads are somewhat neglected. The patrolman does not have enough teams to haul all the needed gravel and other materials. Under the old plan all the farmers would turn out and haul whatever was needed.

The drawback of the old system was found to be the unwillingness of some farmers to do their share of the road work, as it was a rule that each should keep up the highway passing his farm. It is believed that the old system would mean much better roads if this could be overcome.

Miss Anna Geenen and Miss Nellie Hicks have returned from a business trip to Chicago.

ONLY THREE CITIES HAVE 5-CENT FARES

Street Car Fares in Wisconsin Less Than Average for the Nation.

Appleton is one of the three cities in Wisconsin which is enjoying a 5-cent street car fare, according to figures compiled by the Wisconsin Public Utilities Bureau. The other two cities are Superior and Beloit. The compilation also showed the average street car fare in Wisconsin is less than the average in the United States.

With New York eliminated for the reason that the principal surface lines there are in the hands of a receiver, making comparisons impossible, a larger city population is now paying a 10-cent rate than is paying the old nickel fare. In 287 cities with a population of over twenty-five thousand there is a distinct movement toward a basic charge of 10 cents.

Two Cities Charge 10 Cents

In Wisconsin, the 7-cent cash fare or less prevails in nearly all cities. Out of nineteen cities with street car service, only two, Green Bay and Janesville, have a 10-cent fare and their combined population is only 49,310. The ticket fare in Green Bay is 7 cents and in Janesville 7.7 cents. Three cities have a 5-cent cash rate, five a 6-cent rate, six a 7-cent rate and three an 8-cent rate.

A tabulation of present fare charges in Wisconsin follows:

City	Popu.	Cash Ticket	Fare, Fare.
Appleton	13,561	5c
Ashland	11,334	7c	62-3c
Beloit	21,284	5c
Chippewa Falls	9,130	6c
Eau Claire	20,880	6c
Fond du Lac	23,427	8c	7c
Green Bay	31,017	10c	7c
Janesville	18,293	10c	71-7c
Kenosha	40,472	7c	64c
Lacrosse	39,363	7c	64c
Madison	38,375	6c	55-9c
Manitowish	17,563	6c	6c
Marquette	13,610	7c	5c
Jerrill	8,068	7c	55-9c
Shawano	4,571	7c	64c
Oshkosh	33,162	8c	7c
Sheboygan	30,955	8c	7c
Wausau	28,593	7c	55-9c
Superior	30,624	5c

These cities—Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Janesville, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, and Wausau—have a family ticket rate of fifty rides for $3.

Philadelphia Raises Rate.

On Jan. 1, the statistics show that 348 cities in the nation, representing more than 50 per cent of the riding population in cities were paying fares ranging from 5 cents, with a 1-cent transfer charge, to a flat 10-cent rate. 112 were paying 10 cents; six 3 cents; 174, 7 cents; and 124 a 6-cent fare. More than 60 per cent were paying a 7-cent fare or more.

Philadelphia, which long had a 5-cent fare and was pointed to as the reason why no company should ask more, is now paying the 7-cent rate, with a 3-cent charge for transfers at certain points, while Cleveland, with service at cost and almost ideal conditions, has raised its rate to 6 cents with a 1-cent charge for transfers.

FURNITURE DEALERS EXPRESS OPTIMISM

Louis Wichman, who returned Saturday night from the annual furniture exhibition at Chicago, said furniture manufacturers and retail dealers are taking a very optimistic view of the present situation and expect normal conditions will prevail again within the next thirty or sixty days. Manufacturers have enough orders to warrant starting up their plants which have been closed since the holidays and retailers generally claim that trade is daily improving. Mr. Wichman stated several manufacturing plants in Chicago that had been down for several weeks, resumed operations during his visit to the city.

Protects His Family

Editor The Post-Crescent—I note in article in your issue of Jan. 13, referring to "Pupils of Country Schools Annoyed," and beg to be allowed to state a few words in defense so both sides of this question can be heard. However I expect to state facts and not misrepresent the case as the parties that reported the above.

I was a member of our school board when our present teacher was hired and as my term of office expired since then and I positively refused to be a candidate for re-election am not a member at present but I certainly have the best interests of our school at heart and will do all in my power to back up the present school board and teacher.

During this term of school we have been bothered by a certain bully, so to speak, in our school that has seen fit to do everything in his power to cause trouble in our school. By not studying or getting the small boys to fight each other, or to get one part of the school to waylay the other on their way home and stone them. To get the rest of the boys to insult the girls on the way home and have a member of the board call at school a few days ago and give them a talking to on the complaint of parents that have large girls going to school. He was ordered out of school some time ago for two weeks by our teacher. I have two small boys going to school, eldest, nine years. Many times they are not allowed on the school play grounds for fear of a beating. In the evening they must get out at once and run home to save themselves. They are not safe to go along peacefully with the rest of the scholars.

A few nights ago I happened to look out of the window and saw a boy twice as large as my own giving my boy a beating up right before my eyes. Say you fathers with boys, what would you do? I positively did not strike my own. That is proved by the fact being able to go home without the ambulance. I certainly gave him to understand he must leave my boys alone. I claim the right to protect my family at any and all times.

If the parents of these larger boys would spend a little of their time keeping their boys straight we would have better schools and a whole lot more and better teachers to teach them. As it is, is it any wonder it is hard to get teachers to teach our schools? I am solidly back of our school and our teachers.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit.

EXPECT 100 MEN AT C. OF C. MEETING

Two Prominent Speakers Feature Program in Y. M. C. A. This Evening.

About one hundred men will attend the dinner given by the chamber of commerce at 6:30 Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. for H. O. Cooley, Minneapolis, managing secretary of the Yellowstone Trail association. H. Archibald Harris, Chicago, is expected to arrive late in the afternoon and will also be present.

The dinner is to be served promptly at the announced hour so the meeting can close on time. Mr. Cooley speaks at Noonah at noon and will return here for the evening. He will not deal with the financial phases of the Yellowstone trail in his address, but will tell what it means to the state and what publicity work is being done.

Mr. Harris is head of Archibald Harris and company, Chicago, tax-payers. He assured the chamber he would attend personally when he found he was to discuss the 15 questions in taxation referendum No. 34 of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He stated no member of his organization could answer all the questions with the exception of himself.

The organization to be in a flourishing condition. Capt. M. S. Peerenboom gave an interesting account of Company G's participation in Spanish-American war. He described the events from the day the soldiers left Appleton until he returned home.

A popular feature of the program was the reading of a letter from George R. Fox, former mail carrier and now custodian of a museum at Three Oaks, Mich. The letter alluded humorously to every member of the forum.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a social event for the postoffice force and families sometime before lent. William F. Bailey is to address the next meeting. A delightful supper was served previous to the business meeting.

CLARK NEW HEAD OF POSTOFFICE ASSN

Captain M. S. Peerenboom Tells About Company G in Spanish War.

Reno Y. Clark was elected president of the Appleton Postoffice association at the annual meeting Saturday evening in the federal building. An interesting program was presented and several business matters were discussed.

The officers chosen were William F. Bailey, vice-president; Frank J. Schimpf, secretary; Joseph T. Tenen, treasurer; Herman J. French, secretary-treasurer of the postoffice benefit fund. Reports for 1930 showed with the financial phases of the Yellowstone trail in his address, but will tell what it means to the state and what publicity work is being done. Mr. Harris is head of Archibald Harris and company, Chicago, tax-payers. He assured the chamber he would attend personally when he found he was to discuss the 15 questions in taxation referendum No. 34 of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He stated no member of his organization could answer all the questions with the exception of himself.

The organization to be in a flourishing condition. Capt. M. S. Peerenboom gave an interesting account of Company G's participation in Spanish-American war. He described the events from the day the soldiers left Appleton until he returned home.

A popular feature of the program was the reading of a letter from George R. Fox, former mail carrier and now custodian of a museum at Three Oaks, Mich. The letter alluded humorously to every member of the forum.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a social event for the postoffice force and families sometime before lent. William F. Bailey is to address the next meeting. A delightful supper was served previous to the business meeting.

PROPOSES LAW TO PROTECT SETTLERS

"Blue Sky Law" to Govern Sale of Northern Land Is Prepared.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—Senator W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac, is having a bill prepared which will place the sale of unimproved lands under state supervision, in other words creating a blue sky law for the sale of such lands.

Senator Titus, a manufacturer of Fond du Lac, is also a farmer. He knows the necessity of having good soil to produce crops and has made a study of the conditions in the northern part of the state. The bill which is being prepared for him in the legislative reference library is unique. There is no record of any such measure in any other state. It was conceived by Senator Titus and if it becomes a law will safeguard the immigrants to northern Wisconsin.

Under the proposed law application would be made by the seller to the state immigration commissioner at Madison for the right to sell certain land, the description of the land and the proposed price being stated. Before the sale could be consummated an investigation would be made by the county agent in the county where the land is located, or by an agent of the immigration commissioner to establish the agricultural possibilities of the land. Terms of the proposed law would either give the agent authority to refuse a permit for the sale or would hold back the sale until the facts of the case could be put by the agent or commissioner before the prospective buyer, leaving final determination up to him after he had been given the facts.

"There is a great need for protective legislation safeguarding settlers from buying farms which, after great time and labor has been spent in clearing them, prove to be unsuitable for agriculture," said Senator Titus. "Large areas of the northern part of this state are exceptionally well adapted to agriculture after they are cleared and there is no reason why buyers should be inveigled into purchase of land unfit for farming."

He declared Wisconsin would become a mecca for settlers if assurance could be given them that the land they were buying was fitted for agricultural purposes. He declared that although the proposed bill will be passed by practically every real estate dealer and especially those who deal in northern lands the land companies will eventually benefit rather than suffer from application of the law which would keep bringing large numbers of substantial buyers into the state.

Senator Titus has been working on the bill for some time. He declares there is absolutely no doubt as to the constitutionality of such a measure as various courts have upheld the constitutionality of the blue sky laws in their application to the sale of securities and that there is presumed to be no better security than land.

The principle of the proposed measure is heartily endorsed by B. G. Packer, commissioner of immigration, C. P. Nordstrom, commissioner of agriculture, Edward Nordman, director of the division of markets and other officials to whom it has been explained.

While the primary object of the expedition will be the search for new drugs and plants and the study of native customs, the most important feature of the expedition will be the discovery of the manufacture of blown glass and arrow poisons. A very superior quality of rubber said to flourish there will be closely examined and specimens taken by specialists on that subject.

Elaborate preparations have been made for an exhaustive study of the plants and drugs. According to present plans, Dr. Busby will classify botanically all collections. Microscopical study will be made by Professor Ballard of Columbia, Schneider of Nebraska, and Newcomb of Minnesota.

Professors Army of Columbia, Jordan of Purdue, and Syre and Haverhill of Kansas will ascertain chemical values. Physiological and medicinal properties will occupy the attention of medical men from Yale, Harvard and other large colleges.

As six months are expected to be spent in sections entirely isolated from civilization an ample supply of food and medicine will be taken along. Quinine in immediate form will be an important item, as this alkaloid is said to offset malarial fever. While intending to bag only such game as comes within easy reach, the party will be well armed to guard against possible native hostility. Aborigines at Calabar and along the Cameroons are reported to have shown marked hostility toward the whites.

On the Austrian frontier, at mid night, he and many others were turned out in pajamas to be searched. The furs were discovered. Chills! Also the furs.

"Have a smoke?" tremulously. "Sure," said the inspector, taking five.

Furs passed free! A little later the Swiss searched the man at Buchs.

More worry about the furs. The Swiss explained, however, they were looking particularly for tobacco. "They passed up the furs, and missed the cigars," which somehow had slipped into the muff.

That night the American had a nightmare about being strangled by a

BETTY AND HER BEAU

SEEK SECRETS OF AMAZON COUNTRY

Party Will Explore River in Search for Plants of Medical Value.

(By United Press)

Philadelphia—A party of chemists and scientists, headed by Dr. H. H. Rusby, dean of the school of pharmacy at Columbia University, will sail shortly for a scientific exploration of the Amazon Valley, in a quest for new plants and drugs of medical value. A government expert in entomology, an authority on ichthyology from the University of Indiana, and experts from other institutions will accompany the expedition, which is expected to last a year. New species of reptiles, fishes and insects will be sought by the party. Investigation indicates that the majority of the German workmen stand behind the idea of full socialization of the mines. There can be no doubt that it would be easy to throw the torch of a new general strike among the ranks of the miners were the government to seek to sidestep at this time.

The workmen are becoming tired of much talk about socialization and little action. But, everybody concerned is finding it difficult to put into practice a real scheme of either full or partial socialization.

A clear proposal has come only from the former first director of the Thyssen concern, Bergrasse, Horsten. Horsten, organizer of the great works at Hibernia, one of the biggest in the world, has created the unity of the capitalists and won the friendship of working circles through his schemes. Horsten contends that coal socialization done is insufficient and even impossible. He would socialize a number of branches. His plan contemplates making one great factory organization out of a number of kinds of plants in the Ruhr district and placing this under control of the community at large. With this great factory organization as a basis, he would add other lines from time to time, until at the end of say ten years, the whole country had been socialized. He holds that coal alone cannot be socialized because of the fact that it is intertwined with other lines like coal and steel.

He would socialize only industries which are fully developed and whose existence is indispensable to the common welfare. Lines which require special inventive talent or research, which would be fostered more by individual initiative than otherwise—he would take only works from which no new progress can be expected. Coal iron and the like have, in general, reached their high point in development. And, many industries, he claims, do not want to progress further; in fact, they buy up patents and scrap them rather than utilize them.

While the socialization people are busy with their schemes, a great massing of capital is occurring taking the form of concentration of various big enterprises. The greatest brains of Germany are interested in the Siemens concern are such men as General-Director Voelger, a Reichstag representative, and Emil Kirdoff. In the concentrated Siemens group belong coals, electrical works, iron mines, cast steel works, auto works and shipping interests. The concern has interests in the Hamburg America line, the Deutsch-Ostafrika line, and number of ship-building concerns. Siemens concern has also an influence direct or indirect—in at least 200 German newspapers.

The second great concern is the Klockner with interests in mines and numerous factories, while the big Thyssen concern has iron works, mines, machine works and shipbuilding.

Enlistments in the United States navy have been increased to four years.

CAPITALIST WOULD SOCIALIZE GERMANY

Employer Has Scheme for Community to Operate All German Industries.

(United States Staff Correspondent)

Berlin—The whole industrial-socialization problem, which caused such a flurry after the "revolution," has gradually concentrated until now it is centered around the socialization of coal mines. Formulation of a socialization bill is now entrusted to a "committee of 14," under the Reichswirtschaftsrat. It is believed this committee will find a middle way between the so-called Leftover plan (full, immediate socialization) and the Rathenau plan (socialization gradually within a period of 20 years). Investigation indicates that the majority of the German workmen stand behind the idea of full socialization of the mines. There can be no doubt that it would be easy to throw the torch of a new general strike among the ranks of the miners were the government to seek to sidestep at this time.

The workmen are becoming tired of much talk about socialization and little action. But, everybody concerned is finding it difficult to put into practice a real scheme of either full or partial socialization.

A clear proposal has come only from the former first director of the Thyssen concern, Bergrasse, Horsten. Horsten, organizer of the great works at Hibernia, one of the biggest in the world, has created the unity of the capitalists and won the friendship of working circles through his schemes. Horsten contends that coal socialization done is insufficient and even impossible. He would socialize a number of branches. His plan contemplates making one great factory organization out of a number of kinds of plants in the Ruhr district and placing this under control of the community at large. With this great factory organization as a basis, he would add other lines from time to time, until at the end of say ten years, the whole country had been socialized. He holds that coal alone cannot be socialized because of the fact that it is intertwined with other lines like coal and steel.

He would socialize only industries which are fully developed and whose existence is indispensable to the common welfare. Lines which require special inventive talent or research, which would be fostered more by individual initiative than otherwise—he would take only works from which no new progress can be expected. Coal iron and the like have, in general, reached their high point in development. And, many industries, he claims, do not want to progress further; in fact, they buy up patents and scrap them rather than utilize them.

While the socialization people are busy with their schemes, a great massing of capital is occurring taking the form of concentration of various big enterprises. The greatest brains of Germany are interested in the Siemens concern are such men as General-Director Voelger, a Reichstag representative, and Emil Kirdoff. In the concentrated Siemens group belong coals, electrical works, iron mines, cast steel works, auto works and shipping interests. The concern has interests in the Hamburg America line, the Deutsch-Ostafrika line, and number of ship-building concerns. Siemens concern has also an influence direct or indirect—in at least 200 German newspapers.

The second great concern is the Klockner with interests in mines and numerous factories, while the big Thyssen concern has iron works, mines, machine works and shipbuilding.

Enlistments in the United States navy have been increased to four years.

5029 Sing Me to Sleep

$1.00 Irene Williams—Soprano with orchestra.

Soft and soothing is Irene Williams' voice and made the lovelier by the sustained obligato of the violin which accompanies the melody "Sing Me to Sleep" in text and music is one of the songs we most need and enjoy in hours of relaxation. The orchestral accompaniment supplies just the right amount of support and variety needed to best convey Miss Williams' expressive interpretation.

Sweetest Story Every Told

Irene Williams—Soprano with orchestra.

"Tell me that you love me For that's the sweetest story ever told."

Is there any song lovelier than a good love song? Miss Williams' voice floats on a charming orchestral background, like the proverbial feather, and waits the beauty of words and music through your senses without any effort on her part. Sweet bells interrupt the song, and suggest the sweetness of the hour, when this old story is being re-told. In such well sung love lyrics as this lie treasures of sentiment and association and, if you will permit Irene Williams to tell you "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," you will find her a most entertaining raconteur.

AUSTRIAN HEROES

FACE STARVATION

Once Prominent Figures in Court Try to Exist on Pension of $5 a Month.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Vienna—Field Marshal Bohmermann, the hero of Lemberg, is starving to death in Vienna.

With a pension of $2.50 a week, this old warrior just manages to keep body and soul together by going to the free kitchens for one miserable meal a day.

General Baron Forstner, 84 years old, and Baroness Forstner, once dignified, are starving.

The Social Democratic government is looking after the working people. They are not starving, though there is much sickness among their children.

It is the middle and professional classes that are in dire want. Frau Adler, wife of a government official, is running kitchen restaurants for the middle classes and is feeding 250,000 a day.
